

As a parent of school-aged children, summer vacation can present new challenges for children with ADHD. Do you plan to continue your child's medication during the summer months?

