

December Poll Results: What are the reasons you keep your child on or take your child off ADHD medication during holidays or vacations?

I keep my child on medication so that he can continue to maintain focus, control his hyperactivity and get along well with others

I keep my child on medication so that he can maintain his everyday routine

I take my child off medication to give him a break from the side effects, such as decreased appetite and difficulty sleeping

I take my child off medication to see if he has a continued need for medication and if his symptoms resurface

I take my child off medication to help with his physical development