

September Poll Results: ADHD is a condition that often runs in families. In addition to your child, do other members in your family have ADHD?

My child has ADHD, but no one else in our family has the condition

In addition to my child, either I or my husband has been diagnosed with the condition

In addition to my child, at least 3 other family members have been diagnosed with the condition

In addition to my child, at least 4 other family members have been diagnosed with the condition

In addition to my child, at least 5 other family members have been diagnosed with the condition